

The Hakanoa Group presents

The Sixth Annual Large Group Workshop

Understanding Ourselves in our Society

Conductor: Teresa von Sommaruga Howard

We welcome those with an interest in exploring our social and community relationships to our sixth annual large group experience. The large group offers a possibility for understanding connections and disconnections between individuals and between individuals and the social milieu.

Teresa lives and works in Europe and New Zealand. She works as an architect, systemic family therapist, and as a group-analytic psychotherapist, specializing in median and large groups and organizational consulting.

The Hakanoa Group has seven members who have been meeting since 2000 to promote group work in Auckland and New Zealand. It has group membership of the Group Analytic Society (London), is involved in training and enjoys a relationship with Teresa to make the large group workshops happen.
